

SUPPLIER ACCREDITATION

EAGLE, as a Company, is built on a strong commitment to shared social progress, environmental stewardship, and business success that is anchored on a balanced development model that is respectful of the environment and the communities where it operates. This is made possible by responsible procurement practices such as conducting supplier accreditation, managing supplier and contractor relationships, and creating sustainable supply agreements.

As quality and reliability of our Company's supply chain directly affect operations, and consequently, our customers, all our suppliers and contractors are accredited based on good financial standing, expertise, track-record, and compliance with all government Environmental, Social and Corporate Governance (ESG) regulations. Aside from the compliance review, suppliers and contractors undergo interviews, and site inspection visits to the supplier's facilities to further assess their capabilities as may be deemed necessary. Likewise, safety orientations and adherence to protocols are observed when entering our manufacturing facilities.

EAGLE's supplier-contractor relationships are managed by professionals with the necessary knowledge and experience to ensure that quality, service delivery, safety and compliance with all regulations are met. A regular supplier evaluation process is conducted annually to provide feedback on how both parties could improve products and services to achieve mutually beneficial efficiencies and innovations that support business goals.

EAGLE stimulates the local economy and contributes to ensuring stable financial health for related local industries through engaging in transactions with local suppliers. Majority of the services, consumables, and materials used in our operations are sourced locally. Local supply agreements ensure a robust supply chain, and at the same time provide stable business with our selected partners.
